About me

Hello, nice to meet you. I am an active, curious student looking for a job and/or internship. Some of my qualities include being very social, but with a calm stature, hard-working and very curious about everything I try to learn. You could almost call it childish curiosity. I will try my best at any job I am given, as long as I'm given a chance. I have a strong sense of duty and responsibility so there is no need to worry about me finishing the jobs I am given. Anything that needs to be proven, I will do my best to prove.
